

To Go

Conjugation: (present progressive)

I go

He goes

She goes

It goes

We go

They go

You go

All of you go

All of us go.

Usage:

I am going to church this Sunday.

I am not going to church this Sunday.

Is she going to church this Sunday?

Yes, she is going to church this Sunday. (Say: Yes, she is.)

No, she is not going to church this Sunday. (Say: No, she's not.)

Does she go to church on Sundays?

Yes, she goes to church on Sundays.

No, she doesn't go to church on Sundays.

Who is going to church with her? She is going with Consuelo.

Where is she going to church? She is going to the Third Ward.

When is she going to church? She is going to church on Sunday.

Why is she going to church? She's going because it's a commandment and she loves to go.

I am going

He/she/it is going

We are going

They are going

You are going

All of you are going

All of us are going

Past Tense

I went

He/she/it went

We went

They went

You went

All of us went

Practice Using Go

1. I _____ to the store near my house.

Go goes are going

2. He _____ to the store on Saturdays.

Is goes goes are going

3. She is _____ to the store next Saturday.

Are going goes is going

4. He _____ to church last Sunday.

Is going goes went

5. They _____ to church in New Jersey this week.

Went are goes goes

6. We _____ to the temple every month.

Go goes going

7. I _____ to the ward picnic on Saturday.

Go am going goes

8. Are you _____ to English class on Wednesday?

Go goes going

9. Yes, I _____ to English class.

Am going are going is going

10. No, I am not _____ to English class.

Go going goes